Performance

The performance capabilities of the Atlantis 50x4 remain as stellar in the 2-cabin version as in its larger variants. Powered by twin Volvo Penta IPS 600 engines, the yacht can reach up to 32 knots, while its cruising speed of 27 knots offers an optimal balance of speed and fuel efficiency.

Thanks to the Volvo Penta IPS system, the yacht benefits from superior maneuverability, with joystick controls for easy docking and close-quarters navigation. The integrated Dynamic Positioning System (DPS) allows for station-keeping, an invaluable feature when holding position is critical, such as waiting for a berth or anchoring in deeper waters.

Design & Comfort

The 2-cabin version of the Atlantis 50x4 emphasizes spaciousness and versatility. With two beautifully appointed cabins, this configuration prioritizes comfort for the owner and guests, making it ideal for small groups or family outings. The master stateroom is a true highlight, offering a full-beam layout with a large ensuite bathroom, large windows for natural light, and premium materials throughout. The guest cabin, also generously proportioned, includes its own ensuite bathroom, ensuring the utmost privacy and luxury for all on board.

The decision to opt for two cabins creates more space for a larger saloon and communal areas. The open-plan saloon offers an inviting atmosphere, with ample seating, panoramic windows, and seamless indoor-outdoor flow. The interior boasts high-end finishes and attention to detail, from the soft leathers and polished wood surfaces to advanced climate control systems that ensure year-round comfort.

On deck, the layout remains practical and luxurious, featuring a large sunbathing area at the bow, a comfortable aft lounge, and a retractable hardtop sunroof for flexibility in varying weather conditions. The hydraulic swim platform, a signature feature of the Atlantis range, facilitates easy access to the water for swimming and watersports.

Technology and Innovation

As with all Atlantis yachts, the 50x4 2-cabin version is equipped with cutting-edge technology. The state-of-the-art navigation suite is seamlessly integrated into the helm, providing the captain with intuitive control over all key systems. From autopilot features to touchscreen interfaces, navigation is made simple, while advanced safety systems ensure a secure journey.

Entertainment on board is also given due consideration, with a fully integrated multimedia system, including surround sound and satellite TV options. Whether cruising at sea or relaxing at anchor, guests can enjoy a premium onboard experience.

Conclusion

The Atlantis 50x4 (2-cabin version) is a testament to Italian craftsmanship and design excellence. It provides an exceptional balance between performance and luxury, with the two-cabin layout appealing to owners who value larger living spaces and a more personal atmosphere. Whether for family getaways or entertaining friends, this yacht is a standout choice for those seeking both elegance and power in a mid-sized luxury vessel.
